Battle Raged In Streets Of Belgrade Between Invaders And Defenders

SERBIANS' DESPERATE RESISTANCE

BATTLE RAGED TWO DAYS

Before the Capture of the City Was Completed—Bayonet Fights in the Alleys—Serbians Pushed Back Step by Step and Finally Had to Surrender the Entire City.

(Associated Press Telegram) Budapest, Oct. 11.—(Via London)—The Austrians and Germans encountered desperate resistance from the Serbians at Belgrade, and for two days a terrible battle with bayonet fights in the streets before the capture of the city was completed. Describing these operations, Az Est says:

"Our gain of ground and the breadth of our march into Serbia continue to increase. Despite all efforts of the Serbians in whose ranks are British officers, and who use British artillery, the river crossing has been accomplished according to the plan made.

"The enemy attempted with all means at his disposal to hold this line of defense. Though he subjected three of our troops who crossed the river to a murderous fire the latter nevertheless succeeded in attaining Serbian territory.

"A severe battle raged about Belgrade where the Serbians offered particular opposition. Nevertheless we succeeded in reaching the newly installed connections over the Save and invaded the northern portion of the city, where troops remained until reinforcements arrived.

"A bloody battle followed in the alleys. In the northern part of Belgrade a terrible encounter with bayonets raged for two days and nights. The Serbians were pushed back step by step in these fights, and finally had to surrender the whole city."

SERB ARTILLERY STOPS GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS

(Associated Press Telegram) Paris, Oct. 11.—One hundred and fifty thousand Austro-German troops have crossed the Save and Danube rivers into Serbia, according to reports in diplomatic circles at Athens says the correspondent of the Havas Agency. These troops were stopped by Serbian artillery before they could penetrate beyond the border, it is asserted, and Belgrade is the only point at which they have gained a foothold on Serbian soil.

Germans in Athens are credited with having circulated a report that the entente allies had been unable to send sufficient forces to help Serbia and had renounced the expedition but the forwarding of Anglo-French troops from Saloniki continues uninterrupted.

The Havas correspondent says cryptically "the importance of the expeditionary corps surpasses the numbers given hitherto."

NORWAY'S WOMEN VOTE AT POLLS FOR FIRST TIME

(Associated Press Telegram) Christiania, Oct. 11.—(Via London).—Women are voting today for the first time in Norwegian elections. There are 170,000 new electors on the rolls. Press forecasts predict the women's vote will bring large gains to the Socialist representation in parliament, making that the strongest single party, although the government expected to maintain itself by a combination of three political groups.

The Socialists' platform is devoted largely to an anti-military propaganda. The government program includes a grain monopoly, old age pensions, and restrictions of almost a prohibitive character on the sale of alcoholic liquor.

GERMAN ATTACK IN WEST

In the Vicinity of Loos Appears to Have Subsidized, After Accomplishing Nothing Except Securing a Temporary and Partial Footing in Some Trenches—British Gain Ground.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Oct. 11.—The Austro-German armies, which, with the help of the giant 307 millimeter guns, crossed the Danube and Save rivers and occupied the ground, are meeting with stubborn resistance by the Serbian advances, but have not yet come in contact with the main Serbian forces.

The Serbian plan of campaign depends considerably upon the amount of assistance they will receive from allied troops, but it is not believed that they will attempt, in any event, to make a decided stand north of the mountain range near Kragujevatz, which they already have proved to be a line offering superb facilities for defense.

Telegrams from the Balkans, though not minimizing the seriousness of the Serbian position, reflect a one of cheerful confidence in the ability of the allies ultimately to check the Austro-German invasion and successfully meet any future attack from the side of the Bulgarian border. The national danger, say these telegrams, has united Serbia as never before and throughout the country men physically unfit for the regular army and women and old men are arming for the defense of their country.

The population of Macedonia Serbia has gathered into bands with the object of repulsing a possible Bulgarian attack. In addition to 300,000 soldiers, a million Serbians of both sexes and all ages are said to be ready to dispute all attempts at Austro-Bulgarian conquest. The suspense attending the initiation of the Bulgarian campaign is puzzling military writers here, but is considered as probably due to the fact that the country still required several weeks to complete mobilization when the Russian ultimatum was sprung upon it.

Alexander Fails In Effort To Win Again From Boston, Who Takes the Third Game

At Second World's Series Game: Hooper Safe at Home

In the first inning of the second world's series game at Philadelphia, Hooper walked. Speaker singled to right and Hooper reached third. On an attempted double steal Tris was nailed at second, but Hooper scored on the play, being safe when Burns dropped Nicholson's perfect return. Photo was taken just as Hooper scored the run.

German attack in the vicinity of Loos appears to have subsidized, having accomplished nothing except the securing of a temporary, partial footing in some trenches from which the assaults of the allied line afterwards were expelled.

Since October 4, according to Field Marshal Sir John French, the only change of consequence on the Loos front has been a steady gain of ground by the British toward Hill No. 70, which is the key to the situation.

Preacher Killed Young Man Whom He Mistook for Burglar In Rectory In New Orleans

New Orleans, Oct. 11.—The Rev. Byron Holley, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, one of the most fashionable congregations in the city, early today shot and killed Lansing Pearsall, son of a prominent railroad man here. Dr. Holley told the police he shot Pearsall thinking he was a burglar.

About 6 o'clock this morning Dr. Holley telephoned police headquarters he had shot a man in the rectory study. The minister told the police that while in his office he heard someone in his study adjoining. Taking a pistol, he stepped into the study and saw a man near the door. The intruder did not answer my questions as to who he was, and what he wanted," Dr. Holley said, "and when I ordered him out he made a motion as if to draw a weapon. I fired and the man fell."

Several hours later the man was identified at the morgue by Nathan G. Pearsall, claim agent of the Texas and Pacific railroad, as his son, Lansing, 22 years old. No reason could be given for the presence of the young man in the rectory by his parents, or friends.

Dr. Holley said he never had seen Pearsall before.

Police found a window in the rectory parlor had been opened. Young Pearsall lived several blocks from the Holley home on the next street.

REPUBLICAN

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE IS CALLED TO MEET IN COLUMBUS TOMORROW.

It Will be Sought to Give Party Indorsement to the New McDermott Law.

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Oct. 11.—W. L. Parmenter, of Lima, chairman of the Republican state central committee, has called a meeting of the committee to be held in Columbus tomorrow. It is reported that the purpose of the meeting is to give party endorsement to the McDermott law and to devise means of protecting it from referendum.

A number of Republican state leaders not members of the central committee will attend the conference and it is expected a diversity of opinions over the question of endorsing the McDermott law will develop. Many leaders are said to be strongly opposed to making the law on referendum a party measure, despite the fact that the Democratic central and executive committees last week gave virtual endorsement to the present system in opposition to the McDermott law.

It became known today that Governor Willis had cancelled all general speaking engagements between the time of his return from San Francisco, next Monday, and the election, November 2, so that he may devote his time to accumulated business and to fighting for the McDermott law. Two or three speeches on this measure will be arranged, it was said.

CRIME

WAS LOWEST SUNDAY THAN ANY TIME BEFORE IN CHICAGO POLICE HISTORY.

Only 28 Violators of Mayor Thompson's Order Closing Saloons from Midnight Saturday.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Closing of saloons in Chicago on Sunday for the first time in forty four years resulted in the day passing with the lowest crime history in the police history, Chief Healy said today. Out of the 7,122 saloons in the city, only 28 were found to have violated Mayor Thompson's closing order which became effective at midnight Saturday. Most of the violations were of a minor character, only one saloon keeper being arrested. Saloons in the suburban districts where the state closing law was not enforced, received an unusually brisk trade from automobile parties.

There were only sixteen arrests for drunkenness yesterday, and forty-seven on Saturday, as compared with an average of 243 for the two days during several months past.

Some of the downtown bars and a few in the densely populated districts opened their places for business between midnight and one o'clock this morning, but the amount of trade was not up to expectations.

Saloonkeepers estimated that they lost $400,000 yesterday as a result of being obliged to close.

(Associated Press Telegram) Boston, Oct. 11.—The third game of the 1915, world's series was fought out here this afternoon over the wonderful diamond and the wide green reaches of the largest and most beautiful baseball park in the world. It was a fitting setting for the great battle that was to decide whether the Boston Red Sox or the desperately fighting Phillies would have the "jump" by taking the odd contest. The change from the tight little Philly park in the city of Brotherly Love, to this wonderful field, was most striking. It seemed that the entire Philadelphia plant could be placed within the foul lines here and there still would be space left to keep "Gavvy" Cravath's home-runs in the lot.

It was a wonderful day too, not a cloud in the sky. An Indian summer sun by noon had driven away the chill in the early morning air. The waters of the historic Charles River, running beyond the park rippled in a lazy autumn breeze. Never were conditions more ideal for a contest between the titled athletes of the two big leagues and the record pouring of the explosive Boston fans early gave promise of a record-breaking throng. Always one of the most enthusiastic of ball towns in the country, Boston was all but daffy in a delirium of joy, today over the prospect of a game that was expected to be a turning point in the great series that began in Philadelphia last Friday and was interrupted there on Saturday evening with honors even. No little of the anticipated excitement today was due to the fact that Grover Cleveland Alexander was to make his second start and attempt to hold the slugging Sox back for another defeat.

The whole faith of the Phillies was wrapped up in Alex today and they confidently expected him to hurl a game that could not be beaten. Baseball logic is a queer thing. The Philadelphians were claiming today that last Friday's indifferent game had really just served to put "Alex" on edge for today and that he would prove far more effective for having had the experience of facing the Red Sox warriors from Boston. On the other hand, the Sox were just as confident that having once looked over all Alexander had to offer they no longer had any fear of him, and were prepared to give his slide-fang slants and fast-breaking curves "a ride" to all parts of the field.

Manager Carrigan's early morning selection for pitcher was "Dutch" Leonard, the star port-sider of the American League.

"Dutch" was anxious to match his wits, and skill against the hope of the Phillies and with these two master craftsmen in the box, a hair-raising duel was looked forward to. The Sox had all the advantage that goes with the home crowd, and there were more than double the loyal supporters on hand to cheer them than the Phillies could crowd into their yard on Broad street.

But the playing field itself was stranger to the Sox than to the Phillies, this home of the Braves having been selected in place of the American League park because of its superior accommodations.

Leonard and Carrigan were announced as the battery for Boston. Alexander and Burns were announced as the battery for Philadelphia Nationals.

Umpire O'Loughlin gave the decisions on balls and strikes; Umpire Klem gave the decisions on the bases.

Recognition of Carranza Awaits Only Sanction Of Three S. American Nations

Washington, Oct. 11.—The governments of Bolivia, Uruguay, and Guatemala, remained to be heard from today in approval of the action of the United States government in deciding to recognize the Carranza government in Mexico. The other countries which participated in the Pan-American peace conference through their diplomatic representatives—Argentina, Brazil and Chile—already have sanctioned the work of the conference. The approval of the first named governments is momentarily expected.

The next step to be taken by the United States will be determination of the form in which recognition shall be accorded. It is expected to be extended this week possibly through formal notification to Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's official agent here.

General Carranza telegraphed his agency that Alberto Garcia Granados, sentenced to death for complicity in the coup which resulted in the killing of President Madero had been executed Friday after a trial in which he had every privilege of a defendant under the law.

ALEXANDER

der, back against the Red Sox in the first game here as he did in the first game of the series on Friday, in order to gain the advantage which today's game will give to the winners.

Alexander defeated, would mean a narrowing of Philadelphia's chance to slender proportions. Alexander again successful would give the Philadelphia manager an opportunity to seek pitching assistance tomorrow from a second-string man, probably Chalmers, with the star of the staff ready to be called upon for a third game on Wednesday.

Alexander's appearance alone was an attraction to the crowd, but with it was coupled the semi-official word from Manager Carrigan of the Red Sox that "Dutch" Leonard, the youthful southpaw, would pitch for Boston. When in shape, Leonard has been looked upon as the best pitcher in the Red Sox staff. His delivery contains more twists and turns to baffle batsmen than does that of any other Boston twirler. He has not been used previously in the series, for the reason, it is believed of the possible danger that lay in the short fences at Phillies' Park, and the fact that eight of the nine Philadelphia batsmen are regarded as having an advantage over left handed pitchers by batting righthanded. Luderus is the only Phillie player who bats from the left against a pitcher serving from that side.

The outfield play of these three men on Braves field was considered likely to add to the fielding feature of the series, most of which, so far, have developed within the inner circles.

The series to date has been marked by almost entire harmony between players and umpires. A few words which Whitted exchanged with Umpire Klem in the opening game were followed by notice to the Philadelphia player that they had cost him $25. The incident passed unnoted at the time, and nothing similar has developed.

An opportunity for positions in the grandstand was offered by the sale of about 4,000 admissions, entitling the purchasers to stand in the rear spaces of the stand. These numerous provisions for the public reduced the sale of such tickets as speculators had been able to secure and traffic in seats today, was almost negligible. A few vendors were arrested by plainclothes officers who formed part of the force of 400 policemen which superintendent Crowley directed in various activities in and about the field.

PHONE CABLES DAMAGED IN A SATURDAY FIRE

Fire late Saturday afternoon, which practically destroyed the frame barn on the rear of the property in Hudson avenue owned by Mrs. O'Brien, put out of commission 600 or more telephones in the northern part of the city and though a gang of workmen for the telephone company worked continuously, it was not until about 9 o'clock Sunday night that service was restored to all the telephone subscribers affected.

The telephone company was the heaviest losers. Two important cables, one carrying the connecting circuits between the main exchange and the branch in the North End being burned off. Because of the destruction of the latter, all telephones connected with the north branch were shut off of communication with the rest of the city.

Before the firemen had ceased their work at the scene of the blaze the telephone repair gang was on the scene and material was being gotten out of the warehouse to make repairs. The work was not delayed an instant, the men working all night Saturday and all of Sunday and Sunday night, and 80 per cent of the telephones were back in commission by Sunday morning and the balance by Sunday night at 9 o'clock. A few scattering cases of trouble were being cleared up this morning.

The origin of the fire in the barn could not be determined. It was burning fiercely when the department reached the scene and it was not extinguished before the interior was badly charred. The loss on the barn is nominal, the telephone company's property loss being greater than the value of the barn, besides the annoyance to subscribers resulting from interrupted service.

The Current Events Club is sure to be a success if a liberal amount of time is devoted to discussing the fashion news.

The county fairs kill an aviator or a balloonist occasionally, but no rebate checks are given to the crowd in case they fail to do so.

Many young men feel decidedly unhappy since the weather called in the sport shirts as they can no longer display their screwy necks.

It is hoped the Panama canal diggers will hurry up and remove that million cubic feet of earth, so that there will be plenty of room for the next slide.

The young people will wish to give the president a good send off on his marriage day, but the rice throwers can feel that they have done their full duty without following him to the railroad car.

The President's Remarriage.
Being president is a lonely job. He can't travel or go into social life without feeling that he is a kind of hypodermic, one of the sights of the nation which people pay excursion rates to see. So he must largely commune with his own thoughts. No man needs a wife much more than the man in the White House.

The death of Mrs. Wilson last year must have hit the president very hard. It would have been tragic under any circumstances. With the burden of unusual and critical foreign complications on him, he must have felt with exceptional keenness the isolation of his position. The White House is a rather barren old building, and to one who has lost a wife there it must have a somber and echoing loneliness.

The president is to remarry more quickly than some men, but there is good reason for it. Every one will be glad for the better cheer that it will bring into his life, and will be pleased to have the White House emerge from its shadow.

President Is Right.
While not many states are voting this fall, the states which are holding an off year election are being eagerly watched all over the country. A new set of political issues are being tried out. There is keen interest to know how they are going to strike the minds of those who cast a ballot next month.

The most vital question is, "how has our government played the game of neutrality in the face of the tilters of Europe?" Neutrality is the most difficult pose an individual or a nation is ever called to maintain. Neither contending interest is ever satisfied, unless it is given a distinct preference by the neutral party. Manifestly that is impossible.

President Wilson has played no favorites and has merely tried to preserve the rights of the United States and the usages of international law. If this country should be drawn into the war, it could not possibly be for any fault of ours but simply to protect rights which are being intruded upon by the aggression of others.

With the extremists on one side yelling for war and on the other hand cringing down and begging for peace at any price, Mr. Wilson has faced a situation of a difficulty never encountered by any previous president for fifty years. He has issued state papers that will be historic. In these the position of the United States has been stated with firmness yet without anger with appeal to the cold facts of law and precedent rather than with mere clever phrasing. Yet these letters have been wonderfully astute in the skill with which they have massed the forces of law and logic on the American side.

A less discreet president would long ere this have forced the country to the verge of war and a less courageous one would have failed to command respect. Mr. Wilson has steered the straight course and has kept the country out of war.

According to the latest indications he has forced Germany to accede to our contentions as to safety of neutral travel. This indicates that soon England will feel it desirable to conform to our view as to neutral commerce. It has been a great achievement.

The United States will not swap horses while crossing the stream. The elections this fall should show the nation's profound gratitude for skill.

Depression Over.
Using as a basis his observations in West Virginia and elsewhere, Senator William E. Chilton, who is in New York, declared Saturday that within a short time the people of the United States would realize that the period of depression is over and that the country has entered upon what surely would prove to be an era of unbounded prosperity. Senator Chilton also predicted the re-election of President Wilson.

Tariff Hobgoblins Again.
(Richmond Times Dispatch)
Two ideas struggle now for expression in the torpid brain of the G. O. P. One is that as a political organization it is not quite dead, and the other is that a Presidential campaign will be waged next year. Whereupon the Grand Old Party must have been a sarcastic wretch who originated that phrase—shakes itself into the attitude of life and drags out its time-worn and fact-backed shibboleth:

"Raise all the tariff duties in sight," says the G. O. P. "Protect all the dear little infant industries—and the small boy in knickerbockers industries, not to speak of the college student industries and the full-grown man industries. Guard the honest American workman against the pauper labor of Europe. Let us have a preparedness for peace, for unless we restore that monument of intellectual greatness, the Payne-Aldrich Tariff law, Europe will seize all of our business, just as soon as this cruel war is over."

And so forth, and so on. If the Republican party would just get itself some principal issue other than the tariff and celebrate the advent of Presidential elections in some other manner than by a parade of low-tariff hobgoblins we should almost be willing—some time in the distant future—to see it win.

There are side issues, of course. The New York Tribune and other party organs of its type are howling now in opposition to the European policy of President Wilson. The Tribune, with that passionate devotion to exact statement for which it is famous, holds the President responsible for every American murdered during the Lusitania was sunk the theory being that it the nation had gone to war with Germany some months before the sinking of that vessel these particular Americans might not have been on board.

While The Tribune assails Mr.

Wilson for not having gone to war with Germany, another element of our citizenship abuses him for having almost gone to war with Germany. According to some of our German-American friends, the Administration has been neutral only in name, showing strong partiality for the allies. According to The Tribune and Colonel Roosevelt and other thinkers of the same type, the country is forever shamed and disgraced because it did not attack Germany as soon as Belgium was invaded.

It is quite certain that the powerful minds on one side of this argument or the other have gone wrong, and our own opinion is that both camps are suffering from delusions. Neither is willing to accept an administration that stands for law and neutral rights; each would weight the balance with its hatred and prejudices.

Meantime, the American people have formed rather carefully their opinion of Woodrow Wilson. They know that in a time of extraordinary danger and peril he has kept his country at peace. They trust and honor him. It is not likely they will be induced to take another pilot, merely because the heathen rage and imagine things.

Exterminating Armenians.

(New York Herald)
No general denials, no diplomatic evasions can offset the careful investigation made by the American Committee on Armenian Atrocities. From beginning to end its report is based on the testimony of witnesses who are vouched for.

For six months the Turks have carried on a campaign of race extermination in Asia Minor. In cold blood they have plundered and murdered the Armenians, here and there offering the official pretense of "military necessity." Wherever there were Armenian populations their homes have been sacked and they have been driven into exile, helpless and starving. Mothers and infants, girls and old people, by tens of thousands have been herded like beasts left to perish by the wayside, or to die of neglect after their removal from their villages. The non-Moslem men for the most part had already been impressed into the Turkish army to fight the Russians, and by way of return their families have been scattered, their women and girls subjected to outrage and the young, sick and aged left without means of subsistence.

In all the history of Turkish brutality there has been no blacker chapter than the atrocities inflicted upon the Armenians since last April. Back of it all is the deliberate policy of the Turkish government to wipe out a people differing in race and religion with their rulers.

The world has had frequent reminders of the tactics of cruelty of the Turk toward the Christian populations in the Ottoman Empire. But what will it say to Germany's partnership in Turkey's guilt in the present instance?

The President's Triumph.

(New York Evening Post)
If the final solution has required great courage and inflexible determination on the part of President Wilson, it is only fair to bear in mind that the German Government, too, had to be bold and firm. It had not only to confess itself mistaken, and openly to repudiate its own Admiralty, it had also to face a strong and bitter public opinion at home. There can be no doubt that the news of the surrender at Washington will cause much heartburning throughout Germany. It will take all the authority of the Government, all the severity of censorship, to prevent sharp criticism. This popular German sentiment has all along been one of the great obstacles to a peaceful settlement of the submarine controversy. Those who, from the time of the sinking of the Lusitania, feared war between the United States and Germany, feared it mainly because it seemed impossible that a proud and militarily intoxicated country like Germany could retreat in a diplomatic dispute. But she has now done it in the fullest manner. The President has had his way. Through good report and though ill, he has held his steady course; and now he has the intense satisfaction not only of having been able to keep his country out of war but of having made its stand for neutral rights, international law, and for elementary humanity, brilliantly successful. It is needless to lavish laudation upon Mr. Wilson. The facts, the record, the things known of all men, praise him more eloquently than could any words.

"How did you like the show?" asked the ticket-taker at the theater. "First rate," replied the stranger in a large city. "As a tried business man I approve of it. "Are you going to vote for a big navy?" "Maybe," replied the rural statesman, shrewdly, "that is, if you think there's any chance of appropriations to deepen the crack in our country, so's the battleships kin come an' give the folks a look at 'em."—Washington Star.

THE SKILLED WORKMAN.

All admire the living wonder who's an expert at his trade, who is quick and skilled as thunder, with his jummy, brush or blade. I have watched an earnest toiler, as he mends the pans and pots, puts new handles on the boiler, solders up the leaky spots, and he never wastes a motion every move some purpose serves; and it is a balm and lotion to the soul to watch his curves. Oh, we meet so many tinkers who have only learned to fail, that all sane and soulful thinkers wonder why they're not in jail. I have watched the men who blunder, botch things up with saw or spade, and I blessed the living wonder who has really learned his trade. If I had a hundred nieces, I would say to them, "My dears, if you wish to save the pieces, as you journey down the years, you will learn some stunt and do it, better than all other maids; locate knowledge and pursue it, till you're perfect in your trades. Stringing beans or paring apples, darning socks or scrubbing chapels, let your work be fine as silk."

Italy and the War.

Germany, and Austria, on the one hand, and the three great allies, on the other, are likely to furnish the bulk of the fighting in the Balkans, as elsewhere. Italy has made a feeble showing in the operations against Austria. The first flush of excitement is over, and it is doubtful whether the Italian people are whole-hearted in carrying on a war that was not begun in self-defense or for patriotism. If they do not accomplish anything in fighting for themselves, what would they accomplish in fighting for loosely joined allies on foreign fields for objects not beneficial to Italy? What have the allies to gain by helping Greece, which covets Albania and stands in the way of Italian expansion along the Adriatic? Why should the Greeks on the other hand, do anything which would enhance the prestige of Italy and perhaps enable it to drive a better bargain when peace terms are discussed?—Washington Post

Race Progress.

It is becoming increasingly necessary to impress the fact that there are two distinct lines in the improvement of any race, one by favorable environment which brings individuals up to their best possibilities, and the other, 10,000 times more important and effective—selection of the best individuals through a series of generations. Of the perfect all-fuel stove? Wouldn't it be one that burnt hard coal, soft coal, coke or wood economically and successfully, without any change in its construction? Wouldn't it be one that would be tight—hold fire forty-eight hours? What more could you ask? Almost any kind of stove heats if you burn enough fuel, but fuel costs money. Exhaustive search and comparison fixed our choice on the ROUND-OAK-FOLKS, manufacturers of the Genuine Round Oak stoves, and on their "DOUBLE BURNER," as representatives of our ideal in stove construction. Here is a stove manufacturer that knows, and a stove that gets results.
Burns most successfully and with greater economy, all fuels. Is air-and-gas-tight for life, perfect in control, ideal floor warmer, handsome, symmetrical, pleasing to the eye, and, in our judgment, so nearly perfect that it has our unqualified recommendation. Some person imposed upon both Newark papers last Thursday by sending in an announcement of the engagement of Mr. Henry Heckman, the stove mender, and Miss Claire Stiekler of Rosebud avenue, Newark.

Mr. Heckman is not able to say who started the report, but he and Miss Stiekler state that nobody had authority to announce their engagement as no engagement exists.

It should be remembered that the law of Ohio provides a severe penalty for conviction of furnishing false information to a newspaper. A man or woman who does such a thing under the mistaken impression that he is "smart," or "putting one over" on some friend as a joke, is liable under the penal code. A conviction was recently secured in Coshocton, and the Advocate will take measures to protect its columns from the imposition of the unscrupulous and unprincipled.

The body was brought to Newark and taken to the undertaking parlors of J. A. McGonagle in West Main street. He is survived by one son, Dennis Foley, assistant chief of the fire department.

The funeral services were held at 8 o'clock Monday morning at St. Francis de Sales church and burial took place in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Glen E. Cline. Glen, the one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cline of Twenty-first street, died Sunday morning at 5 o'clock after a short illness. The funeral took place this afternoon from the home, Rev. P. H. Fry officiating. Interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Upas Tree Not Deadly. Among the long established beliefs which have in recent years been sadly disturbed is that of the deadly character of the upas tree. The exhalations of this tree were held to be so deadly that no animal life could survive within 150 feet of it. Dr. J. D. Gimlette, an Englishman, who has lived among the Malays for eighteen years, cites a story that when the poison from this tree is wanted by a Malay witch doctor twenty condemned criminals are sent for it. Usually only one or two return alive, and these are pardoned. He says that as a matter of fact the "deadly upas" is largely a fake; that the tree may be chopped down in safety by any one with a strong arm and a keen ax. The Malay smears his creese or arrow, says the doctor, with the insipidated juice of the tree, and if the wound is deep enough the poison produces a toxic effect on the heart similar to that produced by digitalis or by strychnine, a climbing vine of West Africa, which yields an arrow poison which acts directly on the muscles of the heart.

Malay Weapons. The national Malay weapon, the creese, is said to have been invented by a Javanese monarch of the fourteenth century. Its varieties are said to exceed a hundred, and there are in Javanese no fewer than fifty names for them. It varies in size from the two foot wavy blade of Salu down to a mere footpick. But the peculiarity is that the weapon is never ground, but kept rough and sawlike in edge by scouring with lime juice or the juice of an unripe pineapple, sometimes mixed with arsenic, and it is on this account that creese wounds are so dangerous. Old specimens are so eaten away by this practice that the blade seems formed from a bunch of wires roughly welded up. Such creeses are highly valued, and some of the ancient ones, heirlooms of chiefs, with grotesquely carved and inlaid hilts and sheaths, are almost unobtainable.

Katydid. The deep green protective color of katydids makes it difficult to locate them on the foliage. We hear the earth full of rasping noises of katydids at night, but when the sun comes up and chases the last bit of darkness off the face of the earth the noise of the katydids ceases. When we go out to observe some of the noisy creatures we become disgusted with the futile attempt. The trouble is we are likely to have a dozen katydids under our eyes and not distinguish their forms from the deep green leaves. Katydids belong to the grasshopper family. They sometimes make a noise in daytime, but this is rather weak and a very different one compared to the noise made at night. It makes the noise, "katydid," by rubbing the overlapping wing covers against each other. This noise can be made even with the wings of a dead katydid.—Our Dumb Animals.

Venice and Tourists. The great industry of Venice is that of meeting the demands of tourists. The movements of the foreigner, as they are skillfully guided and directed by a host of competent experts, are not difficult to forecast. It is known that if the foreigner arrives at the railroad station he will take a gondola to his hotel. He may travel in the ferryboat or on foot all the rest of the time, to save money, but when he arrives he will take a gondola, so that he may casually mention in writing home that he stepped directly from the train into a luxurious gondola. Knowing this peculiarity, the municipality of Venice keeps tabs on the gondola traffic from the railroad station as a sort of gauge of prosperity.—Argonaut.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

Irritability, over-sensitiveness, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, dizziness—these are symptoms of nervous exhaustion, neurasthenia.

Very often the patient feels best, and brightest at night. Rest seems to bring no refreshment, the nervous system fails to recuperate. This distressing condition is caused by worry more often than by any other one thing. Overwork and worry invite the disorder.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50. Begin the treatment at once before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. if you mention this paper.

Cleaning Lace.

Lace that is too delicate to be washed in the usual way can be cleaned in this way: Make a strong soapuds of some good soap and allow the lace to remain in it for several hours at least, although it is well to shake it out occasionally. A wide mouthed bottle is most convenient to handle. When the lace is thoroughly soaked let the soapy water out of the bottle and keep adding clean water until the soap has all been removed from the lace. Do not handle the lace at all; shaking the bottle will rinse it thoroughly.

If the lace is narrow wind it round a bottle that has been covered with a piece of soft flannel, and do not remove it until it is dry. If it is too wide to care for in that way dry it on a large cushion. First cover the cushion with a heavy towel, then pin the points of the lace in place and allow it to dry. It is better not to use steel pins on account of the danger from rust. When dry the lace will look like new.—Youth's Companion.

Humor Defined.

Green—What is a sense of humor? Brown—A sense of humor is that which makes you laugh at something that happens to somebody else which would make you angry if it happened to you.

WOMEN VOLUNTEERS

In stress and trouble the women of a nation are always to be counted upon. In this country few of our women escape the weakening trouble; peculiar to their sex.

Thousands of mothers, wives and daughters in Ohio, who have regained health, vigor and cheerful disposition after months of very and even despair, are the ones who truly appreciate the marvelous restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Take the following example: Wooster, Ohio—"I suffered from a weakness of catarrhal nature and got so bad from it I could not even sleep well. I was unable to get help from any remedy until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This made a marked difference at once. I used six bottles and the effects were marvelous. I was then cured, as I have had no return of it since. I am glad to recommend this remedy."—MRS. NELLIE PARKS, 133 Le Roy St., Wooster, Ohio.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is and has been for nearly 50 years just the medicine. It is not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper. It's a temperance medicine, a glyceric extract from roots.

Not only does it build up the entire system and make it strong and vigorous enough to withstand the organic disturbances, but it has a quieting effect upon the feminine organism.

Every woman should be careful that the liver is active and the poisons are not allowed to clog the system—get rid of these poisons by taking a vegetable laxative occasionally—such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do not gripe and will not harm the most delicate system.

Consult Dr. Pierce by letter, correspondence private and confidential, address Doctor Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

In Milady's Boudoir

By Gwen Sears

The only time when gray hair is unattractive is when it is improperly cared for; when it is streaked with yellow; and to be brutally frank, when it is not clean. Gray hair should have a regular fortnight shampoo. For this warm water and a mild white soap should be used and the strands rubbed between the hands until every trace of oil has been cut loose by the lather. Following the soap washing there should be a rinsing with clean warm water. Let the temperature of the rinsing water be gradually increased until it is as hot as can be born with comfort and then gradually lower the temperature until it is cold.

Never shampoo the hair at night as the best time is in the morning, when the drying can be done beside an open window where the strands will get the benefit of the fresh air and sunshine. Do the drying with warm turkish towels, gently rubbing the strands until every trace of moisture has disappeared. Then, very gently, comb out the tangles. Don't brush them out, as if you do you may break some of the strands.

After combing and brushing, separate the hair in parts all over the head and rub the scalp, very gently, with pure olive oil. Use very little oil, just enough to moisten the finger tips. The next day dust the scalp with rice powder and, with a soft brush, rub the powder around until all trace of the oil has been absorbed. In between these semi-monthly shampoos there should be a dry shampoo. This is begun by carefully combing and brushing the hair and then generously sprinkling rice powder on the hair and through the strands.

Rub the powder in the scalp and through the strands until all oil has been absorbed and then cleanse the hair of the powder by another careful combing and brushing. This treatment, used regularly, will keep gray hair fresh looking, silvery and fluffy. And that means it will keep it attractive.

Your Boys and Girls

There are those who hold that the methods of preparing milk for the artificially fed baby have been too complicated. The reason why most women who discontinue breast feeding their young babies and give them the bottle is that they think it will be less trouble. On the contrary, bottle feeding is a trouble maker. It is trouble to prepare the milk, to keep it properly, to get the bottle ready, to heat the milk.

It is more trouble to do this than it is to put the baby to the breast especially since now mothers are following the plan of nursing the baby every four hours, and only once or not at all during the night. When we take into account the sickness rate among bottle fed compared with breast fed babies, the argument is very much in favor of the theory that breast feeding is less troublesome than bottle feeding. In fact, bottle feeding is so very troublesome that most poor people give it up and go to condensed milk and infants food.

Every Day Etiquette

"When I call to take a girl to the theatre should I remove my overcoat?" asked Jack.

"If you have plenty of time to spare you may remove your coat before entering the drawing room, but if the time is limited it will be all right to keep it on," answered his father.

Prominent periodicals everywhere are daily exposing the harmful effects of the drug, caffeine, in coffee.

Physicians, food experts, medical writers and editors largely agree that the cumulative effect of the 2½ grains of caffeine in the average cup of coffee is responsible for the many troubles, such as sleeplessness, nervous prostration, palpitation, indigestion, etc., that subtly beset most regular coffee drinkers.

Some people seemingly hold up under regular coffee drinking without serious results, but modern thinkers, with respect for the fundamentals of health and longevity, are daily changing to

Tolstoy and the Peasants.

Tolstoy, the great Russian novelist, spent his whole life in a close communion with the peasants and was persuaded that all the wisdom he might have attained concerning life, its true meaning and its true aim, was due but to this fact. He knew the peasant soul; he spoke and he wrote, especially in his religious and moral works, the language of the peasants.

He always says, speaking of truth,

"He considers the work of the peasant the only dignified labor, and he never ceased to investigate the simple thoughts and the clear judgments of the true workers—the peasants. At the very end of his life, when he left his home he walked with his daughter through a village and said to her: "I don't yet know our peasants. I will take a stick and wander from door to door, knocking at each house. Then, perhaps, listening to the answers they will give me, I will penetrate into their true minds."—Exchange.

Color Schemes in Rooms.

When following out a color scheme in furnishing a room a little touch of an entirely different but harmonizing color produces an excellent effect. This was brought out by a professional decorator who was discussing the furnishing of her own home.

One room which was furnished in green and had a green velvet couch cover was especially noteworthy. "The room needs something to break the monotony," she said, "and some pillows with a bit of old rose coloring will do it."

A bedroom where the color scheme is blue and white is attractive, but requires another color to give it warmth.

A straight color scheme is easy enough for any one to carry out, but it calls for considerable skill to make it distinctive, as in the practical application of a little variety is usually necessary to make the furnishings really charming.—Good Health.

Don't Be Radical.

The sooner young folks learn not to be radical the sooner they will find themselves floating serenely down the stream of life without friction. To be radical takes lots of trouble; you have to be continually ripping off veneers, scratching surfaces, engaging in original research, applying acid tests, lifting lids, making analyses, tearing off masks, demanding proof and so on incessantly.

But it is all pernicious activity. The leaders and makers and sellers of earth things up to so that they will seem to be so and so; their leadership and their fame and their profits depend upon our being perfectly credulous and accepting things for what they seem. Why, then, ask embarrassing questions and thus hinder the everlasting ill will of those who are trying to hoodwink us? It is much better to take things as they come (paying cash, of course) and be humbly grateful.—Life.

Poe and the Literary Messenger.

With his stories and his criticisms during the meager two years of his connection with the magazine Poe was certainly able to reflect that, as at no time in her previous literary history, he had put Richmond on the map. But

FORD MACHINE
TRIED TO JUMP
FENCE ON HILL

Alva Leak, traveling salesman for The Howell Provision company, met with an experience Thursday night which he will always remember and which might have terminated in a frightful accident had not his usual good luck stood him in stead and as it was he came out of it smiling and serene after experiencing the fright of his life.

Mr. Leak started in his Ford touring car for the Coshocton fair Thursday evening about six o'clock, so that he might be in time for the opening of the gates at the fair Friday morning. He drove along a route with which he was familiar, that is, he thought he was until he had climbed part way up a big hill, when he realized that he was on the wrong road. Instead of continuing on up the hill and turning around to retrace his steps, he figured that he could save time by backing down.

When part way down the hill, the auto skidded and started off the side of the road down a steep embankment. There was a fence midway down the embankment, and the machine landed on a post with the front wheels in the air. The driver catapulted through the air, landed safely on his feet after making at least a half dozen somersaults, which would have been the envy of a professional circus acrobat.

Although it was pitch dark, he started at work to get the car back off the post, intending to start up the embankment, figuring that he could do so for it had been his experience that a Ford car can do anything. After working until after two o'clock in the morning he gave up the job and went to a nearby farm house, awakened one of the men, told him of his predicament, and secured his services, together with that of a team and at just five o'clock the car was back on the road and ready for a fresh start.

After paying the man for his trouble, Mr. Leak started to apologize for causing him so much inconvenience, when the farmer replied that it was none at all as he had intended to arise about that time, anyway, so that he could get started for the fair. It was a fortunate escape for the Newark man, and he will long remember the experience.

Numbered Teaspoons.

In the early days of tea drinking, when the brew was rare and costly, numbered spoons were used. It was not etiquette for a guest to ask for a second cup until all the company had finished the first. The numbered spoons therefore insured each getting his own cup back again. As a sign to the hostess that no more tea was wanted the spoon was placed in the cup. Even when etiquette was a fetish tea-pot spoons sometimes got choked up, so the long handle of the spoon with a pierced bowl that succeeded the silver strainer was thrust down the spout to disperse the leaves. "Etiquette," remarks Arthur Hayden in "Chats on Old Silver," "forbade the hostess to blow down the spout."

Fraziers B. &amp; O. Counsel.

Announcement was made Saturday at Zanesville that the law firm of Frazier and Frazier, had been appointed division counsel of the B. & O. railroad to succeed the late Judge F. A. Durbin. The new firm is composed of Judge A. A. Frazier and his son F. F. Frazier. Judge Frazier was assistant counsel to Judge Durbin and has had charge of the work since Mr. Durbin's death.

Among recent Newark endorsers was Mr. O. A. McClintick, the well known farmer of Nashport, who had been taking Nerv-Worth for ailments of a nervous origin. I am now on my second bottle of Nerv-Worth and conditions are so much better that I feel encouraged to hope for a complete cure. In two very important respects I certainly am far better—digestion is decidedly improved and my sleep lasts all night every night, a wonderful gain for a man who suffered after meals from sleepless nights as I did. My nervousness is also far less troublesome. And my wife is also better off because Nerv-Worth, which she has been taking for indigestion, with excellent results."

Portland Cement.

In the manufacture of portland cement, clay or shale and limestone are ground together and "burned" in rotary kilns. The cement comes from kilns in the form of hard, black, semi-vitreous lumps, or "clinkers." When pulverized this clinker becomes a grayish powder, which is the familiar article of commerce employed for a great variety of purposes in practically every type of building construction. It has long been known that the fineness to which the cement is ground is one of its most important characteristics, and consequently specifications require that 75 per cent or more of commercial cement shall pass through a No. 200 sieve, which has 40,000 openings per square inch. This is the practical limit of mechanical sieves in respect to fineness, for although finer sieves can be manufactured the necessary uniformity in size of openings cannot be attained. It is well known, however, that the minute particles of cement, which are just capable of passing through the openings of a No. 200 sieve, are still too large to be of value as cementing material when mixed with water. Hence the really valuable portion of the cement consists in the extremely fine powder, the amount of which can only be inferred from the sieve test.

Sacred Mushrooms.

The "sacred mushrooms" of the Aztecs, which was called by them teonanacatl and used as an intoxicant, was, according to investigations recently reported, not a mushroom, but the narcotic cactus, Lophophora williamsii, now well known for its use by the American Indians in religious ceremonies. It is popularly called "mesquite button," though a better name is peyote. Early writers on Mexico described it as a mushroom, and this notion as to its botanical status still survives. The mistake is due to the fact that in one of the two principal forms in which it is prepared the head of the plant is cut off transversely, and when dried it bears a close resemblance to a mushroom. In its other form it is cut longitudinally or in irregular fragments and was described by early writers as raiz diabolica, or "devil's root."

Analyzing a Master.

De Quincey, who wrote the "Confessions of an English Opium Eater" and other works now considered classics, was a strange, ill balanced person. Vernon Lee says of him that he had an incapacity for holding his tongue on irrelevant matters, which is a sign of intellectual weakness. He had also a marked incapacity for keeping his irrelevant emotions (especially the vituperative ones) to himself, which is a mark of moral vulgarity. He had a manifest tendency to talk big and at the same time to mix slang with grandiloquence in situations where no humorous effect could be obtained by this proceeding. Yet withal these traits are redeemed by his great subtlety of thought, his tragic depth of feeling and occasionally his marvelous power of seeing and saying.—New York Telegram.

Breslau's Checkered Career.

This history of the possession of Breslau shows that it has changed hands very often. Early in the sixteenth century it was made the seat of a bishop and after having formed part of Poland became the capital of an independent duchy in 1163. In 1335 it was purchased by John, king of Bohemia, who retained it until 1400. It then changed hands and became subject to Bohemia once more in 1400, passing with the rest of Silesia to the Hapsburgs in 1526. It came under the authority of Frederick the Great in 1741 and was recovered by Austria in 1777 and regained by Frederick in the Seven Years' war. It has since been Prussian, except a few days in 1807 and again in 1813, when it was held temporarily by the French.

Our Army Rations.

The average daily field ration of the United States army is made up as follows: Bacon, 12 ounces (or fresh meat, 20 ounces); bread, 13 ounces; beans, 2.4 ounces; potatoes, 20 ounces; prunes or preserves, 1.23 ounces; coffee, 1.12 ounces; sugar, 3.2 ounces; evaporated milk, 5 ounces; vinegar, .16 of a gill; salt, .64 ounce; pepper (black), .04 of an ounce; lard, .61 of an ounce; butter, .5 of an ounce.

At the Zenith.

"Pa, what does it mean when a public man is said to be at the zenith of his popularity?"

CHILD GETS SICK
CROSS, FEVERISH
IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach or bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough inside cleansing is oftentimes the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

GLASS OF SALTS
CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt, which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much, also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly—No Other Newspaper in the World Gives so Much at so Low a Price.

There has never been a time when a newspaper was more needed in the household. The great war in Europe has now entered its second year, with no promise of an end for a long time. These are world-shaking events in which the United States, willing or unwilling, has been compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Presidential contest also will soon be at hand. Already candidates for the nomination are in the field, and the campaign, owing to the extraordinary character of the times, will be of supreme interest. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the daily Advocate together for one year for $2.65.

You Are Called Again
To Defend Your Rights

Men of Ohio:

YOU are again embroiled in a prohibition fight at the instance of a minority misled by interested professional agitators. There is no demand from any large number of the people for the submission of this question this year.

When YOU voters of Ohio defeated the prohibition amendment last year YOU took it for granted that the matter was settled for sometime; but in line with the RULE OR RUIN policy of the professional agitators, the prohibition question is again forced upon an unwilling electorate.

The paid promoters of the prohibition propaganda do not believe that Ohio will go dry. Their real attitude is revealed in their public statements. In an address at Portsmouth, the leader of the Anti-Saloon League said:

"What we plan to do is to make the saloon, distillery and brewery elements bankrupt themselves trying to keep Ohio wet. And we will succeed. We will wear them down and we will wear them out."

Will that Un-American attitude secure any large following in Ohio? Take the foregoing piratical utterance in connection with a statement made by another speaker at the Dry convention held in Columbus on February 2, 1915, when, amid thunderous applause, this policy was advised:

"Above all things the truth must be told about the Drys, but it is not so important to tell the truth about the Wets."

These startling statements account for the dishonest, unfair and immoral attitude of professional prohibition agitators. They show why the prohibitionists last year DELIBERATELY GARBLED THE HOME RULE AMENDMENT. They show why the prohibitionists THIS YEAR are JUGGLING TAX FIGURES, BUSINESS AND WAGE STATISTICS, and giving out untruthful statements about conditions in so-called dry states.

Eternal Vigilance
Is the Price of Liberty

Every man in Ohio who believes in a square deal will get in the line up against prohibition and resent this assault upon his rights and his property.

Every voter who has the welfare of Ohio at heart opposes prohibition, because—

It would not prohibit the "blind pig" and the kitchen bar for the licensed saloon.

It would destroy home rule and the license system.

It would increase the pernicious drug habit.

It would financially ruin individuals and communities.

It would throw 100,000 men out of work.

It would destroy $460,000,000 of property values.

It would interfere with the personal use of beverages.

It would make the buyer of wine, beer and liquors in Ohio a party to a criminal offense.

It would increase your taxes.

THIS IS YOUR FIGHT. IF YOU DO YOUR SHARE THE VICTORY THIS YEAR WILL BE MORE DECISIVE THAN LAST YEAR.

Prohibition Invades The Home

Prohibition would be an assault upon your rights—personal and property. Prohibition would seek to prevent you from enjoying the proper use of wine, beer and whisky.

Prohibition says that you cannot buy wine, beer or liquors in Ohio for household consumption or for personal use.

Prohibition says that if YOU do have these beverages in your possession, or IF IT IS BELIEVED that you have them in your possession—at home or on your person—you may be searched like the lowest criminal.

Prohibition says that the cheapest, prying "dry" detective, whose motives MAY be honest, may invade your home—for what? To ascertain if you have a drink on the premises!

Prohibition means a governmental police bureaucracy and private detective spying that would reach innocent and guilty alike.

Prohibition says that your home is not your castle.

Prohibition Is Wrong

Prohibition is wrong because it seeks to force MY opinions on YOU. Prohibition simply means that "I" let YOU drink what "I" want YOU to drink; and then—

"I" let YOU eat what "I" want YOU to eat.

"I" let YOU read what "I" want YOU to read.

"I" let YOU wear what "I" want YOU to wear.

PROHIBITION IS WRONG because it permits ME to take from YOU the rights to which YOU are entitled.

PROHIBITION IS WRONG because it permits ME to take from YOU the rights to which YOU are entitled.

In short, prohibition takes away from YOU every vestige of personal rights and gives to ME the power that decides what is good for YOU or what is bad for YOU.

Prohibition substitutes MY will for YOUR will.

Home Rule

Prohibition would repeal the Home Rule Amendment voted into the Constitution by the people last year.

The Home Rule Amendment, by retaining local option laws, recognizes that the municipalities and townships of Ohio shall continue to have the right of deciding broadly whether the sale of alcoholic beverages shall be permitted in their communities, and that they may exercise this right independent of any outside vote. The Home Rule Amendment thus meets different conditions and different localities in the different localities in thorough accord with the local public sentiment, and thus makes for law enforcement and law enforcement.

The Home Rule Amendment gives to the people in each community the regulation they wish on the liquor question, disturbs no business conditions and follows the progressive and constructive policy of the State to better conditions.

Come in This Week And See The Display of Beautiful Furs

In addition to our own complete stock of fur scarfs, muffs, sets and coats, we are showing this week some very handsome novelty pieces from one of our big furriers.

SCARFS AND MUFFS in either separate pieces or sets in natural mink, Jap mink, blended mink, black lynx, natural lynx, nearseal, Persian paw, black fox, mole, American beaver, natural opossum, coney, gray fox, red fox, tiger coney, civit cat and raccoon.

FUR COATS in all the new styles in Russian pony, nearseal, Hudson seal, marmot, black astracan, fine Persian lamb. All beautifully made and lined with fancy silk linings in dainty colors.

Don't Delay Selecting Your Furs

These furs were contracted for last March, when furs were much cheaper and before the recent big demand for furs and fur trimmings, which are being used on all suits and dresses. This demand has increased the price of furs very materially, and if you are contemplating buying a new scarf, muff or coat we advise you to buy it in October.

There is no reason at all for waiting until later—prices are sure to advance and again if you delay your selection you will not have the fine pieces to pick from, as all the more choice skins and pieces are naturally the first to be sold.

We are showing fur sets in all qualities from red fox sets for girls at $10.00, on up to the fine martens and minks at .875 and $100 a set. Fur coats in real Russian pony at $24.00, on up to the Hudson seals at $85.00 and $100.00.

FAULTY

ROAD CONSTRUCTION HAS CAUSED TAXPAYERS LOSS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

Steady and Systematic Repair Urged by Officers of the Good Roads Association.

As a result of a trip of road inspection by officers of the Ohio Good Roads Federation and the Ohio State Automobile association, it was found that there is a loss to the public purse of millions of dollars by faulty construction. There is a hundred million dollars' worth of macadam and stone roads in the state already built that do not need entire rebuilding, but do need steady and systematic repair and maintenance.

Many macadam and stone roads are built without a proper understanding of the various factors that enter into their construction; drainage is poor or entirely absent, the stone is not rolled enough to keep it into place, too little water or binder is used, and no mechanical binder or surface treatment is used. Such roads go to pieces a few months after they are opened to traffic.

Secretary W. A. Aisdorf of the Ohio Good Roads Federation, President Richard H. Lee and Secretary Fred H. Caley of the Ohio State Automobile association covered hundreds of miles in Ohio by motor car. They found that in many localities it was left to traffic to pound down the road after the stone was placed along the way. Modern traffic laws, however, an opposite effect. Swiftly moving vehicles create a suction, and particles of stone and dust are picked up and blown away. This is followed by rutting, and—according to the road experts—billions of dollars' worth of roads now being poorly built, will soon be practically worthless, roads which could have been made substantial by little extra expenditure of money, care and engineering ability.

CAPT. WARDEN BUYS ANOTHER IOWA HOTEL

NEWARK MAN NOW OPERATING A STRING OF 11 HOTELS
5 IN IOWA.

Martin Hotel at Sioux City Taken Over by Capt. Warden for $200,000—Now in Possession.

[Special to The Advocate]
Fort Dodge, Iowa, Oct. 11.—Captain Frank G. Warden of Newark, Ohio, has just bought his fourteenth hotel, his latest purchase being the finest and largest hotel in Iowa.

Captain Warden acquired his thirteenth hotel only a short time ago. While he is not the least bit superstitious, some of his friends say that he expressed great satisfaction when the deal was closed for his fourteenth and what Mr. Warden declares to be his last hotel.

The Sioux City, Iowa, deal has just been closed. It is for the lease furnishings and business of the Martin hotel. The consideration was $200,000.

Mr. Warden stated that the purchase was made to complete "a chain of the best hotels in Iowa." This is the first transfer of ownership since the erection of the hotel about three years ago, having been operated by the Martin Hotel company since that time. W. B. Nation, the present manager, will continue in that capacity, Mr. Warden said last night.

The sale was effected after only a week's negotiations. Mr. Warden arriving in Sioux City Friday morning to close the deal. The Martin hotel is the fourteenth to be taken under the management of Mr. Warden. The other five in Iowa include the Wahkema, at Fort Dodge; Chamberlain and Kirkwood, at Des Moines; Lafayette Inn, at Clinton and one now in the process of erection at Ottumwa.

Mr. Warden stated that he intends to give his Iowa hotels the greater portion of his time, and with this plan in view he will soon move his headquarters from Chicago to Des Moines.

GO NO FARTHER

The Evidence Is At Your Door.

Newark proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt.

G. W. Coulter, manager of the L. H. Swisher Cigar Co., 43 German street, Newark, says: "Kidney trouble came on me like the thrust of a knife. A sharp pain caught me through the small of my back and for the year and a half following, I was in poor health. I couldn't work steadily and felt badly. I doctored, wore plasters, in fact, did everything, but didn't get relief. Mornings I had to drag myself around and it was hard for me to dress. I couldn't stoop or bend. Often I had to lie down again. I felt so utterly worn-out and weak. I had rheumatic pains in my limbs. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me a lasting cure."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Coulter had. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and thick with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

NEWARK SCHOOLS VERY FAVORABLY COMMENTED UPON

Superintendent Wilson Hawkins of the public schools has an excellent article in the October number of the Ohio Educational Monthly, published at Columbus on "Extracts from School Monthly." Under the department of Educational News the following notes pertinent to the local schools are also found:

Licking county is experiencing a building revival. New buildings are on the way at Hanover, Elma, Homer and Kirkersville and some other villages are giving the matter serious consideration.

The high school at Newark enrolls 700 this year and is a hive of well-directed industry. Superintendent Wilson Hawkins and Principal J. Barnes work shoulder to shoulder in devising large plans and they have an unusually large contingent of teachers in the corps who are dynamic and who, therefore, are alert to every opportunity to make these plans become realities.

CHINESE FIGHT JAPANESE IN A BRAWL ON LINER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Seattle, Washington, Oct. 11.—Scores of Japanese and Chinese sailors were wounding each other and bruising today, as a result of a free-for-all fight yesterday aboard the Great Northern Liner Minnesota in port here. Two hundred of the Orientals, a majority of the crew of the steamer participated in the fight which police reserves had difficulty in stopping.

The exact cause of the trouble has not been determined but officers of the ship said the Japanese and Chinese had been on unfriendly terms ever since the Minnesota sailed from the Orient. The trouble began when sixty Chinese attempted to break up a Japanese birthday party. Instantly reinforcements appeared for both sides and within a few minutes every Oriental aboard was engaged in a free-for-all fight, with fists, bottles, chairs, playing pins or any other weapon that was handy.

NO WORD FROM KIPLING'S SON; WOUND SLIGHT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
London, Oct. 11.—Rudyard Kipling has received no further news of his son who was wounded and France. It was only slightly wounded when last seen, and his parents are hopeful that he suffered no more serious fate than being taken prisoner beside the German lines. Mr. Kipling sent to the Associated Press today the following message:

"I should be obliged if you would make public in America the fact that up to date my son John is reported as being missing, and we are not believed killed, as stated in the press a few days ago."
